Concord-Carlisle's lacrosse team opened with a bang this week against Framingham North with an 11-3 victory. One of the smaller players on the field, Pete Reed, turned out to be the big gun with six goals. Reed, an EMass All-Star last year, is also a nationally ranked fencer. His coach is Jim McClellan, who took the lacrosse team to Springfield over the weekend for games vs. the Springfield College freshmen and Longmeadow.

One shutout in top-flight lacrosse competition is rare enough, but the Eastern Massachusetts High School tournament came within 1:15 of giving us two at Brandies yesterday.

Concord-Carlisle had dispatched defending state champion Newton North, 4-0, in the opener of a semifinal doubleheader and favored Needham was on its way to a similar victory in the nightcap, when Lincoln-Sudbury erupted for a pair of quick goals in the last 1:15 to go down by a 4-2 score.

Thus, it will be Needham vs. Concord-Carlisle in tomorrow's Eastern Mass finale at Brandies (5:30 p.m.), with the winner meeting the Western Mass. champ at the same site Saturday at 2 p.m.

Needham (14-1) struck for two quickies in the first 1:18 — within 35 seconds of each other on the first two times downfield, in fact — when Rich Hawes and Evert Ellison scored against a seemingly confused Lincoln-Sudbury squad. That blitz put Lincoln-Sudbury into a hole from which it could never quite recover. The late burst was far too late and too little against the powerful Needham team.

Goalie Phil Corbett came up with 14 saves, many of them acrobatic, as Concord-Carlisle dominated Newton North. Peter Reed led an adequate attack with two goals, while John O'Connell and Mike Cloutman each contributed a goal.

Needham, which holds a recent 9-3 decision over Concord-Carlisle, has not lost to a high school opponent this season, its only setback coming at the hands of Tabor Academy.

Here's one sport, at least with a frank coach — high school lacrosse.

"We choked away the first quarter," decided Lincoln-Sudbury coach Andy Oleski after his team had dropped a 4-2 decision to Needham in the nightcap of Eastern Mass Tournament semi-final doubleheader at Brandeis yesterday. "We had been playing our best lacrosse the last three or four games, and it seemed we were peaking."

In truth, it was a gruesome display. Favored (14-1) Needham appeared to score two goals just by its reputation. The Rockets took the game's opening face-off, waltzed downfield, and went ahead 1-0 on a goal by Rich Hawes after a mere 43 seconds of play.

Another faceoff, another Needham recovery, another trip downfield — and another goal, this one by Evert Ellison. They had played a total of 1:18, and L-S was trailing by a 2-0 score.

And those two goals proved to be the difference, as a late burst (two goals in the last 1:15 of the fourth period) prevented a shutout and enabled L-S to salvage some measure of self-respect.

In the opener, Concord-Carlisle gathered together behind an awesome display by tiny goalie Phil Corbett to oust defending state champ Newton, 4-0. Neither team showed much in the first half ("Our guys weren't used to the heat," explained C-C mentor Jim McClellan. "We've played in three thunderstorms, but not weather like this"), but Concord-Carlisle started getting untracked in the final 24 minutes to take an easy victory over Newton.

In Needham, C-C will meet the most talked-about team. "We've got great strength at midfield and we're in excellent condition," says Needham coach John Bamberry. "We beat Concord-Carlisle once before, but, from what I saw of their game today, they handled the ball much better and their running game was improved."

"Needham is good, added a disappointed Oleski. "You just don't make mistakes against them."

The confrontation will take place tomorrow at Brandeis, with a 5:30 p.m. starting time. The winner will advance to the state finals, again at Brandeis Saturday at 2 p.m.

Needham, as usual, scores first, wins lacrosse title

There never was any doubt, really. Getting behind the Needham High lacrosse team is like begging for a submission hold.

So it was that the Eastern Mass. High School Tournament final at Brandeis's Gordon Field went the way of all but one Needham games this season. Needham scored first, Needham came up with the big goals when pressed a bit and Needham protected the lead in the stretch.

The result was a 5-2 victory over Concord-Carlisle to wrap up Needham's first Eastern Mass. crown. All that stands between the Rockets and their long-standing goal, to win the state title, is a game with Longmeadow High tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the same site.

Yesterday's was a defensive triumph. Goalie

Bobby Carter was, of course, a standout. "He stopped a lot of one-on-one shots right in front of the net," beamed coach John Bamberry. "And our close defense blocked a lot of shots with their hustle."

Bamberry, who is also the Needham football coach, felt that the key point in the game came in the second period. Concord-Carlisle had just scored to make it, 3-1, and appeared to have the momentum. But Larry Mann wasted no time righting things, whipping a 15-footer from out front past game C-C goalie Phil Corbett.

The clincher came with just 38 seconds left to play in the half, when Roy Hefernan, a converted catcher playing his first year of lacrosse, made a beautiful dash downfield before passing off to Paul Martin, who rammed it home. That made it 5-1, and allowed Needham's defense to take charge in the final 24 minutes.

"Those two goals really took the sting out of them," Bamberry pointed out.

Saturday's state final game won't be the end of the lacrosse season, either. The East-West (prep and public schools, both) All Star game will be played at Springfield College at 2 p.m. Bamberry will be one of the coaches on the Eastern squad, which will include several of this area's best players.
